Our Story

2025

In 2025, Pletox strengthened its foundation as a next-generation HRMS platform. Building on our expertise in HRMS and payroll, we introduced a modern task and project management system that seamlessly connects teams, automates workflows, and enhances productivity. This evolution positioned Pletox as a unified workforce management solution — helping organizations streamline employee operations, improve collaboration, and drive measurable growth.

2024

We rebranded Pletox as a unified workforce management system. New features like multi-tenant support, payroll automation, on-boarding workflows, and audit-ready reports helped us serve larger enterprises across industries with greater precision and speed.

2023

Pletox HRMS surpassed 100 active companies. We introduced a modular architecture – allowing organizations to choose only the modules they need, including performance tracking, asset management, and worklogs. This milestone marked a leap toward full HRMS automation.

2022

Our team and client base grew steadily. We set up a full-scale development office and began handling larger deployments. New features like real-time biometric sync, role-based permissions, and statutory compliance tools were added to improve workforce management efficiency.

2021

Encouraged by early adoption, we expanded the platform with leave management, shift planning, and employee directories. We also moved to a cloud-based HRMS model to support scalability and easier client onboarding.

2020

Amid the pandemic, we launched the first version of Pletox HRMS – a simple tool to help businesses manage attendance and payroll while adapting to remote and hybrid work. This foundational HRM software helped organizations stay compliant and consistent through uncertain times.
